Bourbon Republicans Have Warm Convention.

The Republicans of Bourbon county met in convention in this city Saturday afternoon for the purpose of selecting delegates to the convention to nominate a candidate for Railroad Commissioner from the Third Railroad District and after three hours of wrangling, the convention resulted in a split between the Garrett and Craig factions.

On the face of the count Garrett received the instructions from Bourbon county by a majority of 165 votes, but the Craig forces claiming unfairness, held a separate convention and passed resolutions instructing their delegation for the Covington Man.

The convention was one of the warmest held in this city in years, with the exception of the Taft-Fairbanks convention, which brought together the Republicans of this county in one of the most bitter contests waged here in several years.

In spite of the heat and excitement of the convention only one hostile demonstration occurred, which was of little consequence, and police interference prevented any possibility of a further attempt at hostilities.

The Craig forces, which up to the time of the convention were led by George W. Stuart, Chairman of the Bourbon County Republican Committee, foresaw the probability of defeat, and in an effort to secure the instructions of the county, Stuart announced himself as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, after offering his resignation as county chairman, and asked that the opposing factions unite and instruct the delegation for him. The leaders of the Garrett faction declining to consider his proposition insisted upon a vote being taken for temporary chairman and put in nomination A. B. Thomason of North Middletown, ex-Postmaster J. L. Earlywine, a Craig supporter, was also named.

The crowd was then ordered to line up on Main street for the purpose of counting the adherents of both sides. M. R. Jacoby and J. W. Larkin were appointed tellers and considerable time was taken up in counting the votes. The tellers had proceeded from Eighth street to the Baptist church counting the Earlywine adherents, when the tellers refused to go further, giving as the reason that a large number of the voters were repeating. The charge was made by the Craig faction that the tellers refused to continue the count after proceeding a short time and withdrew from the convention.

The final count as returned by the tellers was Thomason 666, Earlywine 401. After considerable wrangling it was decided to give Earlywine the benefit of one hundred votes. Claiming unfairness they held a rump convention on the steps of the Baptist church, selecting James Shea as Chairman and Jim Brooks, a negro, as Secretary. After introducing resolutions the following delegates and alternates were named by the Craig men:

A. W. Cottingham, G. W. Stuart, J. B. McClintock, W. W. Jackson, George Mason, Horace Mitenell, J. W. Larkin, S. L. Weathers, Edward Gorey, Frank Frazier, Charles Stephenson, W. L. Yerkes, William Cherry, James Shea, French Thompson, J. P. Hutchcraft, W. J. Calvert, Thomas West and Moses Towles. Alternates: Dr. Frank Fithian, W. S. Hall, Sam Patrick, William Edwards, Jr., William Freeman, J. W. Bramlette, James Corbin, Frank Thompson, R. D. Grant, H. C. Peters, R. B. Hutchcraft, Sam Johnson, Allie Hill, George W. Wilder.

The regulars withdrew to the Christian church where they organized the convention with George H. Johnson, a negro, as secretary and selected the following delegates: Chas. Hough, W. A. Thomason, A. J. Mabrier, T. C. Livingston, Riley Dotson, Ewalt Haley, Pat Kane, D. Hune, T. H. Clay, Jr., Stamps Moore, W. A. Thomason, A. B. Thomason, N. A. Moore, S. Ayers, S. W. Duncan, Jim Gaines, Allen Beatty, Jim Duncan, Geo. Nelson, Milt Woodward, Rev. Campbell, J. D. Shy, M. R. Jacoby.

Kaiser Will Stick With Cubs.

During the game between Cincinnati and Chicago at Kaiser, the Cub outfielder, had one of his fingers broken, while attempting to field a line drive. He will be out of the game for some time as a result of his injury.

A dispatch from Chicago says Billy Smith, manager of the Chattanooga club, called President Murphy of the Cubs over long distance and tried to buy Kaiser. "Not for your whole town," was Murphy's reply. "Who said you could get him?" he then asked. And the answer was that Garry Hermann had told them Kaiser was not making good and might be procured. Cincinnati is Kaiser's home town and he was overlooked by all the Cincinnati scouts, though he played exhibition games with the Reds. This may have been Garry's little way of getting even.

Desirable Property.

Barnes Place is the first resident district on Main street to be thrown open to the public in the history of the city. Located within a stone's throw of the junction of the different divisions of the Louisville & Nashville railroad system, it readily becomes the most desirable property now on the market. Every lot will be sold on Thursday, May 11, at 2 p. m.]
